REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT CONVENTION.

A Republican Convention will be held in the city of Watertown, on Wednesday, September 24th, 1862, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate to Congress from the Second Congressional District. All loyal citizens of the district, without regard to past political affiliations, who, in this hour of national trial and peril, will sustain the state and federal administration in a vigorous prosecution of the war, until rebellion is crushed, traitors punished, the integrity of the Union preserved, and the supremacy of the constitution and laws enforced and respected, are invited to attend. The convention will be held in the city of Watertown, on Wednesday, September 24th, 1862, at 12 o'clock M.

Republican Congressional Convention

A call for a convention to nominate a republican candidate for congress has been issued by the congressional committee. It is to assemble in Watertown on the 24th of September next. Now let a sound, reliable candidate be nominated, and the people of the district will confirm the action of the convention.

A Party Movement.

The democratic state committee and a large number of leading democrats of the state met in Milwaukee last Tuesday, and it was unanimously determined to organize that party for a contest this fall. The state committee resolved (says the News) "to hold a Grand Mass Convention of the democracy and conservative men of the state at Milwaukee on the 3d day of September next—the convention for the transaction of business to be composed of four delegates from each assembly district."

TELEGRAPH TO GREEN BAY.—The telegraph has been completed to Green Bay, and the people of that quiet and hospitable borough are in communication with the "rest of mankind." The following dispatch, the first over the line, was sent to the Milwaukee Sentinel:

GREEN BAY, Aug. 5, 1862.

TO THE SENATOR.—Through the enterprise of Mr. Winlow, the old north city and country this day joins hands by lightning with her sister cities and counties of the state, as well as with all outside barbarians, and trusts the pleasant acquaintance this day formed may never be broken. Our latch string is out. Call and see us, and stay all night.

Yours, fraternally,
ROBINSON & BRO.

MILITARY ITEMS.—The following recruiting appointments are issued:

For 22d Regiment—Walter Cook, C. G. Stetson, W. E. Roberts, Elliott Scribner, Kanaboa county; James Hemming, Janesville; Enos Salsick, Watertown; George Knefelater, Mukwonago; H. Whitmore, Whitewater; D. S. Curtis, Oconomowoc; A. F. Lamb, Watertown.
A. R. Jones and W. G. Pitman, of Madison and Russell J. Day of Broadhead, for 23d regiment.
Capt. W. P. Lyon, Co. K, 8th regiment, as Col. of 13th regiment, vice Maloney recalled into the regular service.
John Starks as 1st Lieut. and Adjutant of 23d regiment.
Dr. M. A. Mosher of Berlin, as assistant surgeon 20th regiment.
Lieut. Col. Gnyppy of 10th regiment, as Col. of 23d regiment.
W. H. Durham, of the 8th regiment, is promoted for meritorious conduct to a 2d lieutenant in the 23d regiment.
Sergeant W. S. Cross is commissioned 1st lieutenant of 8th battery, for meritorious conduct.
G. Stamm, the state agent at Keokuk, Iowa, informs the governor that S. H. Lawrence and William Winnegar, of Co. F, and Fred. C. Kewer of Co. K, severely died in hospital at that place on July 29th, 30th and 31st.

It is generally believed that the militia who are to be drafted will be employed to hold and occupy the re-conquered towns, posts and strongholds as our army moves southward, and that they will not have much fighting to do. This is very likely. The experienced and well disciplined troops who have been in the service for months will have the privilege of whipping the enemy in battle, and the raw troops will be expected to receive and hold the results of their achievements.

Love is the seraph; faith and hope are but the wings by which it flies.

How an Army Moves.

There are a great many things besides men and guns essential to an army; and the commander, about to lead an army into a hostile country, first sees that the commissariat is well provided with provisions, that there are ample means of transportation, and that there is a reserve of ammunition, clothing, and a good supply of hospital stores and medicines. All the preliminary arrangements for the march having been carefully made, the order of march is communicated to the several commanding officers of divisions, brigades and regiments, but not published in orders. The troops are distributed according to the character of the country.

In a very open country a large portion of cavalry would be at the head of the column, but generally it is distributed throughout the line. The artillery should be in the rear of the first foot regiment. An advance or rear guard of mounted troops—one or two companies—should be detached each day, and the regiment that has the right of the line one day should be next day in the rear. In a woody or mountainous country, detachments of flankers and skirmishers are thrown out to the right and left of the column, at a distance of one or two hundred paces, to catch a sharp lookout and prevent any such disastrous and gratuitous experience as those painfully and recently familiar to us in connection with the ambulance on the road to Vienna.

The column having been formed at half or quarter distance, and the baggage train assembled in the rear, protected by a guard selected from each regiment for its own baggage, the column is put in motion, and the march commenced with the same regularity as would be observed by a regiment moving in or out of a garrison town, the band playing, the light infantry with arms sloped and those of the riflemen slung over the shoulder, the officers with swords drawn, exact wheeling distance preserved, and perfect silence observed.

After having proceeded a short distance in this manner, the word of command "route" is given by the general at the head of the leading battalion, passed quickly on to the rear. The captains, instead of continuing at the head of their companies, draw back to the rear of them, that they may see any men of their respective companies who attempt to quit the ranks without leave. The soldiers then march and carry their arms in any manner convenient to them, conversation and smoking being ordinarily allowed.

NEWARK, O., Aug. 5.

GENERAL FILLON.—The North American of this city has an important letter captured by the first Ohio cavalry, written by Gen. Fillon to his brother in Tennessee. The General is alarmed about the new policy, and says that we will go to catching negroes in less than thirty days, and will sweep the river of cotton. He thinks the only safety for his men is to carry them to the interior, and wants his brother to help him get off his negroes before they are caught, but the secret must be kept. He thinks that the south will receive its independence, but will lose one thousand million dollars worth of negroes. He has a plantation in Arkansas, and wants to get his negroes across the river into Mississippi, but his brother says that he will not do so. The safety of our property depends on immediate action, and wants his brother to give out that the negroes taken by the federals will be sold to Cuba after the war is over.

INDIAN JUGGLERS.—His attendants having removed the cutlery, he called me to examine his eyes, which he opened very wide and rolled about in every direction. They were clear, liquid and expressive. He then closed the lids, put his hands upon his hips, gave a strain, then opened the lids and in place of his natural eyes were two balls of finely polished steel. He closed the lids again, strained again, opened the lids again, and the steel balls were gone, and a pair of burnished brass ones shone in their stead. Once more he closed the lids, and on reopening them looked at me with the eyes I had just before examined. During the performance of this trick he never took his hands from his hips, and I was the only person near him. On rising, he called to his son, and made him stand before me. He then asked me to inspect very carefully the youth's left side, to press my hand heavily upon it, to rub it upward and downward, and to feel the pulse. He said he was just below the skin. I did as I was told, and could feel nothing but the ribs. The father then placed his own finger upon a particular spot, and with an instrument like a lancet made a slight puncture, and got hold of a piece of coarse thread, which he drew forth beemered at intervals with blood. He continued to draw forth the thread, in one piece, until thirty or forty yards lay upon the ground, and said he would go on as long as I wished, or that I might draw it out myself. I declared myself satisfied, and the thread ceased to come close to the skin, gave the same rub, and nothing remained to show that any operation had been performed.—George Thompson, in the "Daily."

EXTRAORDINARY MARCH.—Some three weeks since Col. Leavenworth received orders from Gen. Blunt to proceed with all the available force at his command with all possible dispatch to Fort Lyon. Promptly acting upon his orders, he at once prepared for this march, and in less than forty-eight hours after the receipt of the dispatch, Gen. Blunt, Col. Leavenworth, and his command were en route for Fort Lyon. He had under his command two sections of the 9th Wisconsin Battery, and over one hundred of the infantry belonging to the Colorado Second. The distance from Denver to Ft. Lyon, by the best traveled route, is 240 miles, but Col. Leavenworth made the march in six days and a half! No such marching has been performed during the present war, and we doubt if it has ever been beaten. The men all reached Fort Lyon in good health and spirits.—Rocky Mountain News.

RISE IN THE PRICE OF HATS.—A meeting of hat makers was held at the Fifth Avenue on Thursday evening, and it was resolved that, after the first of August, hats which have been sold at $4 shall be priced $5. The increase of expense in getting the raw material, under the new tariff and tax bills, is the principal reason for this movement. Hereafter, therefore, "fies" will be at a premium.—N. Y. World.

During the seven years' war an alchemist tried his best to convert lead into gold, but he failed.

Gen. Wool is doing a good work in Baltimore, in arresting secession sympathizers.

Gen. Edgerston, who rode down Baltimore on the 10th of April, 1861, calling upon the people to raise the federal flag, is now in the north, having been arrested the other time, and is now in Fort McHenry.

Tuesday the bookkeepers were all brought up for selling photographs of the rebel generals. If the test oath should be administered, as desired by the recent war meeting, the roads to Dixie would swarm with hundreds of rebels.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF POTOMAC, Wednesday, 6 P. M.

The army of the Potomac has again assumed the offensive. The reconnaissance made yesterday, under Gen. Hooker, to Malvern Hill, White Oak Swamp bridge, and in the direction of New Market and Richmond, was in every respect a complete success. The troops left camp about dark, night-before-last, arriving at Malvern Hill, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning—a distance of ten miles. Here they encountered two regiments of infantry and a battery, posted behind earthworks. Fire was immediately opened on them by Capt. Robinson's battery, and a section of Capt. Robinson's. The infantry was not engaged.

The firing lasted about three hours, when the rebels ignominiously fled by the river road to Richmond, hotly pursued by our troops, who succeeded in taking 1000 of them prisoners. The loss on our side at this point was three killed and eleven wounded. Capt. Benson had his thigh broken by a piece of shell. The doctors think the leg can be saved. Lt. Col. Gamble, of the 8th Illinois cavalry, was severely wounded in the breast while driving in the enemy's pickets.

Col. Averill, with 500 cavalry, took the Quaker road to White Oak Swamp bridge. There they fought the 10th Virginia cavalry, drawn up to receive them. A charge was immediately ordered, which broke the rebel lines, when they fled. Col. Averill followed them three miles, taking 28 prisoners, without losing a man.

General Pleasanton, with a force of cavalry, took the New Market road, on which a portion of the rebels were retreating. He followed them to within a short distance of New Market, where, meeting two brigades of rebels, he fell back, bringing over 30 prisoners taken on the way. New Market is 10 miles from Richmond.

WASHINGTON, August 6.

The Post professes to have reliable information from Richmond that the entire rebel army never exceeded 350,000 effective men, from the Potomac to the Rio Grande. The forces about Richmond reach at the highest but 120,000 men, of which only 90,000 were on the peninsula during the memorable seven days, and of whom 50,000 only were used against our flanks, and all points. The rebel loss was 25,000 killed and wounded. Richmond since has been one vast hospital.

Late advices from Sperryville state that a deserter from the 7th Virginia cavalry had come into the lines, having left Gordonsville last Saturday. He says there is a very large force at Gordonsville and Stauntonville, that reinforcements are arriving daily from the north and south, and that it is their intention to attack Pope, whip him if they can, and then fall upon McClellan. The advance brigade of Gen. Sigel's corps is now subsisting entirely upon the enemy.

BOSTON, Aug. 6.

A great war meeting was held here this evening. Hon. Edward Everett was the principal speaker, and made an eloquent and patriotic address, strongly denouncing any idea of giving up the contest. AN EXAMPLE WORTHY OF IMITATION.—

Edward O. Wright, of this city, in a letter to his father, makes the following notice of a brave man, during the six days battle on the peninsula: "Not one of our men will ever forget the two hours that we lay flat on our faces between two artillery fires on the hot sun, from one to three o'clock, with a continual whizzing of shot and shell over our heads. Some burst immediately over us and sent the pieces flying in all directions, but with such force that they generally fell beyond us. A corporal lying by my side, one of Vermont's noble sons, six feet in his stockings, was struck by a small piece of shell on his trigger finger, cutting it to the bone, and rendering it useless for the remainder of the day. He merely tied a cloth around it, without going to the hospital as many a man did with less cause than he had, and remained on the field long after his own regiment was relieved, using all his own cartridges, and picking up discarded boxes until he had fired over one hundred rounds, and came off with the last regiment as the rebels came sweeping around on their flank, narrowly escaping being taken prisoner with hundreds of others. If every man had fought with the courage and determination that he did, a different hue would have been given to some of the voluminous correspondence of the New York Tribune and other papers."

A TELEGRAMMER AT WORK.—The following is an extract from a private letter from a young man formerly a resident of this city, who is now in the employment of the government as a telegraph operator. Those who remember "Thode" will easily imagine the dignity with which he adorned his unique ball room dress:

PILOT KNOS, Mo., July 29.

Your letter reached me a few days ago. Since its receipt I have been down to Greenville. A week ago last Sunday the seash made a dash into the place and tore up things generally—surprised the "malish" in their tents—took all their arms and horses away—took whatever they wanted
